

Flexile Systems is a full service provider of IP network applications, installation, and support for small-to-medium businesses. These customers often value partnership vendors who can provide quality advice, design, component selection, product fulfillment, installation, training, and support rather than just commodity delivery of labor and materials.

Certifications: Flexile is certified with many industry leading partners with solutions for the business community including infrastructure equipment (routers, network switches, and security appliances), voice over IP communications, wireless technology, Microsoft operating systems/enterprise applications, video conferencing, video streaming, and infrastructure cabling systems. Flexile is trained, certified, and experienced in the new technologies offered by our manufacturing partners.

VoIP: Voice over IP telephone systems continue to advance across the country. Using a local area network with voice enhancement, cabling, and support personnel, Flexile can offer a proven voice over IP model for lower cost of ownership versus traditional telephone systems. With the convergence of voice, video, and data on a single network and with the many features now available in IP-based communications, it is apparent that IP is the choice for the next generation of corporate communications.

AT&T: Corporations today often use dedicated circuits for their data, voice, and video connections. Flexile has a partnership with AT&T to provide the best in high performance, highly available, flexible, and cost effective wide area networking and voice solutions for dispersed companies.

Multimedia Communications: Another area of technology gaining popularity among small-to-medium business is multimedia communications. These applications include video conferencing for remote meetings, recording of presentations for later access, and video-on-demand for reference and training purposes. The modern business often wants access to the depth of the company's experience and expertise at every employee's desk. In addition to video-on-demand solutions, corporations need to have quality presentation rooms for in-house meetings and quality video conferences with remote offices, customers, and suppliers. All of these solutions are now mainstream and cost effective over the existing local area network.

Other Business Solutions: Other business solutions: Some other business solutions Flexile Systems' offers include wireless access, data and camera security systems, cabling infrastructure, Internet access routers, servers, and filtering, plus many other custom network based solutions needed for partnership customers.

